Let us defend our heritage of freedom

Our American way of life has given us much. It has given us freedom of worship, protection of life and property, opportunities for study, for work, for play. It has given us an ideal — Democracy. That which we call democracy today is not perfect. It has its faults, which we see all too plainly. Democracy is more a goal toward which we advance than an accomplished fact. From time to time the pathway toward that goal is blocked with obstacles seemingly insurmountable. Such obstacles confront our democratic peoples today.

We are a nation at war. At times it seems that we are being forced to give up the very things for which we are fighting; at times our democracy seems to be trampled under foot by the gods of war. But the past achievements of our nation give us high faith and great hope that we shall overcome the barriers before us and shall, once more, in peaceful unity proceed to the heights to which we believe we as a nation were destined.

GRATEFUL

We know not what the future holds, but we know that the Creator "shall not fail nor be discouraged till he have set judgment in the earth; and the isles shall wait for his law." We, too, can wait and can pray, "Thy will be done on earth." Meanwhile we are glad, glad, to have an opportunity to sacrifice and, if necessary, to fight for that which we feel is our birthright.

One of the greatest manifestations of democracy in America today is the educational system. Here at Madison College, a part of that great system, we have the democratic idea in action. Each student is offered an equal opportunity to acquire knowledge, to cultivate her talents, to develop a fine sense of appreciation. She has a freedom in making her choices. There is none of the regimentation of the totalitarian states

We have tried in this book to tell very simply the story of a year at Madison College — our college — named for James Madison, early protector of the democratic idea. In our story we draw no conclusions, we point no morals. Each student may do that for herself. We say: Here is the story of a year at school — a story whose events could have happened only where the democratic idea exists. And we dedicate our story to

THOSE MEN EVERYWHERE
WHO ARE FIGHTING
THAT DEMOCRACY MAY LIVE.

Introduction to Our Campus

THOSE of you who like to go on long, long walks will understand, perhaps, and some day, not so very long from now, all of you will know what it is to walk into the distance away from all you've felt and been. You will know a surging emotion, half of regret at leaving all this that is a part of you, and half of expectation for the future, your future. But there will be times when a nostalgia for the days that once were your very own will come and you will go running down that long, worn path, desperately seeking the solace of something that has slipped away into the distance, and that you would like to have back again, for a little while at least. The path will seem longer than you have thought, but then, you will find yourself standing before a half-barricaded door, alone, watching memories go by.

Each of those days that you had at Madison will be there in a dim parade passing on. Some will be almost faded into obscurrity, and you may wonder what part of life you lost that day; but then something clear and fine may appear, and you will reach for it, hoping. There will be the people who once were a part of you, who made campus richer and more alive for you because you knew that they were there; you will see some favorite class or the day a surprise arrived from home; and always you will see your campus beautiful, your campus in the gay fall robe it wore the first day you saw school, the way Wilson looked in the shadows of night, spring, and the bright greenness it brought, and the splashes of color. As you stand watching, watching the dim parade of memories go by, you'll be afraid some may escape . . . Perhaps the touch of your campus beautiful that we give you now will bring them close to you, and you will know the path to be not quite so long and hard to find, and you will remember.

Remember these scenes?---Remember our song?

Oh, Alma Mater, to thy name We'll ever faithful be,

Lift learning's torch to brighter flame,
Shed honor's light on thee.

Where mountain blue meets sunset glow, Our college stands serene.

With passing years its friendships grow
In memory ever green.

Oh, Madison, may wisdom clear Guide us and prosper thee.

We give thee, Alma Mater dear,

Our love and loyalty, our love and loyalty.

Who We Are

and that is a precious term to those of us who do not have much longer to claim it as our title.

We are daughters of merchants, farmers, lawyers, doctors, salesmen, soldiers . . . We have come from widely varied backgrounds for differing purposes to the same school—to Madison College.

Some of us came to learn to be teachers, others of us want to work in some field of home economics, still others have a position in the business world as their goal. But, whatever our purpose in wanting it, we all came for an education.

Physically, emotionally, mentally, spiritually we differ, each from the other. Each girl has her own personality, her own aspirations, her own joys, her own sorrows. Each girl, just as she is and also as the person she is becoming day by day, is an important part of our student body.

We are tall and short, thin and fat, blonde and brunette, have blue eyes and brown, like spinach and don't like spinach... We are thirteen hundred and seventeen different people.

OOKING back, we remember our Senior year as the fullest year ever—led by our president, Betsy Ross, advised by our sponsors, Mrs. Adele R. Blackwell and Mrs. Raymond C. Dingledine and, for good luck, inspired by our little mascot, Betsy Lynn Gibbons.

There was excitement and diligence over parties, dances, programs, class days, and—not to be minimized or forgotten—classes.

This year our class day was different from others we had known. We were Seniors, capped and gowned, and actually realizing for the first time that our big finale was at hand—that, along with necessary classes and training, we must fill every day quite full of activities in order to get in all those things we had planned.

Looking ahead, we must strive to do our part, to fill our place in life, and to serve.

1942 Junior Class Officers

class, the freshmen, get settled, the juniors have been going steadily ever since, under the leadership of Tilli Horn.

Tilli, popular, original, full of life, always had an answer for any question that came up. With the able assistance of the other officers, she led the juniors through their happiest and most successful year to date.

The juniors' third class day, held February 20, found them dressed in white, but without the usual fancy costumes. They had to forego these and, with the money that would have been spent, bought a Defense Bond. This will be used for a scholar-ship for a member of the junior class of 1952.

The juniors were hostesses to the Emory and Henry basketball team in January. The visitors spent the night in Junior Hall and were guests at a reception after the game.

HEN the sophomores arrived on campus in September, they immediately devoted themselves to the happy duty of greeting the Class of '45.

President Evelyn Dent showed wise leadership, with Vice-President Nell Grimes as her able assistant. Class affairs were recorded by Secretary Margaret Wenzel; finances were managed by Treasurer Helen Miller. Sergeant at Arms Ann Lankford was ever eager to be of service. The friendly advice of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, the class sponsors, was indeed an asset.

On their class day, the sophomores donned maids' caps and aprons to pursue their duties as "servants in the house of Knowledge."

June meant rejoicing, as their "big sisters" of the Senior Class received those coveted degrees. There were also fond farewells and good wishes to the graduating sophomores.

The session 1941-42 was a good one for the second-year girls. It brought work and play, joys and troubles. And above all, it brought a sense of growing up, a feeling of maturity which comes only with increasing age, education and experience. Yes, the Class of 1944 had a good year . . .

Who Taught Us

hey were our friends—those who taught us. Perhaps we ought to admit that we did not always consider them so, but ultimately we nearly always come to the realization that what they did was for our own good.

They, too, were an assorted lot—Southern drawls predominating among them, but there were mid-western brogues, clipped New England accents, and even a rich, pleasing, throaty Germanic tone.

Our teachers were an educated, cultured group, who taught us much about living a full, worthwhile life. True, they taught us subject matter, but they gave us so much more than that through our personal contacts and association with them.

We couldn't say who was the favorite teacher. Each student had her own favorite.

One of the best memories we have to carry away from Madison is of our faculty—teaching in the classrooms and in the laboratories, marching into assembly in their academic costume, giving us help and encouragement when we needed it, and deserved severity when we needed that.

memories which take large spaces in our hearts and others, smaller but loved and cherished, which fill in the nooks and corners.

One familiar memory which finds its way into the larger spaces of each Madisonite's heart is that of a tall, dignified figure walking briskly through the hall of Wilson on his way to his office, greeting those whom he meets on the way. Should we chance to follow him into his office, we might hear him good-naturedly jesting with those who work with him, and then, a very short time later, we would find him settled behind his desk deeply concentrating on the matters which the head of a college has to manage.

You've guessed it easily — he is none other than our own president, Dr. Duke, who has this year been more energetic than ever in his earnest, well-planned efforts to guide us in meeting emergencies and every-day situations sanely and calmly, in order that we may be prepared for the future.

B.S., Madison College: 1922—

The close of another year at Madison finds us remembering certain problems which stand out from the ordinary happenings of our college life. To Mrs. Cook, Dr. Gifford, and Mrs. Garber — who has returned to our Madison family this year as Dean of Freshmen — these puzzling questions are quite as important as they are to us, for it is they to whom we turn with our problems which seem too big for us to handle.

To Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Garber usually goes the job of aiding in planning much of the social life, as well as of smoothing out various difficulties which may arise. Dr. Gifford proves himself an able and understanding person to whom we can turn to straighten out tangles concerning irregular class schedules, placements for positions, and any number of other matters.

During a year filled with rapidly developing crises and world disturbances, these three have looked ahead and have guided us in our search for those values which are lasting and real in life.

What We Did

his year our clubs met and accomplished, to varying degrees, their purposes; our major organizations functioned as usual, or perhaps better than usual. We had our lyceum series. We disbanded our literary societies and from the non-sorority members we organized a chapter of Theta Sigma Upsilon, a national educational sorority. We used the new privileges which were granted us last spring.

But this was not an ordinary year. For the first time in our lives we were living and going to school in a nation at war. And it did make a difference. We felt a new seriousness and responsibility in this matter of getting an education. We cut out some of our useless spending and bought defense stamps; we knitted for the Red Cross; we took courses in first aid and nutrition and signaling. We accepted the rationing of sugar and tires and the shortage of silk like true patriots and didn't quarrel about it.

And often we stopped to think and to realize that it will be for our generation and the generations which follow us to repair the damage done by this war. And we vow that in our time we will never let it happen again!

officials, but rather individual self-control—government in which each student is to keep carefully above reproach her own conduct, out of her desire to hold Madison's banner high. Many rules were abolished. In their place we now have "standards" suggested and ratified by the student body.

During the first days of the session the Student Government officers were on hand in Alumnae Hall and about the campus, with a word of welcome for every new student and for every old girl, too.

The hill back of Wilson Hall was the site for the annual outdoor supper for new students on the first Sunday evening.

Of all our Madison traditions, perhaps the most impressive is the "Oldgirl-Newgirl Wedding." At this symbolic ceremony the president of the Senior Class, as groom, and the bride, chosen from the Freshman Class, exchanged their nuptial promises before the officiating minister, the president of the Student Government. These promises express the bonds of unity and mutual helpfulness that characterize our student body. Dignified ushers and lovely bridesmaids in pastel gowns added charm to the celebration.

At Handbook classes in the Freshman dormitories, those constitutional clauses and by-laws that might have been confusing were explained.

There was quiet conversation over the teacups in Alumnae Hall one fall afternoon. Of course the occasion was the Student Government tea for new students.

Jane Dingledine presided at our student body meetings. Secretary Treasurer Marion Wilkinson recorded the minutes. Our swiftly moving discussions of matters pertaining to our campus life reminded us of the preciousness of freedom of speech.

Each quarter our energetic vice president, Kitty Walker, efficiently supervised the chapel seating. As Recorder of Points, Ruth Moore kept careful account of all our honor points.

The activities of the Student Council were varied. It was the task of this group to pass judgment on us when we forgot—. Council members checked our tables in the dining hall each quarter to make sure that no one was left to starve. It was a Council girl who looked for our "sign-in" slips after our week-end away.

During the winter quarter a committee elected from the four classes nominated the candidates for the major and minor Student Government offices. Elections were held in February, and the new officers were installed at a specially designated assembly early in the spring quarter.

The year brought storm clouds of war over our nation and our college life. The cooperation of our student government in organizing our program of national defense and helping us keep calm under the pressure of dark days meant much to everyone of us. Our motto rings in our ears as a battle cry:

"Democracy is something deeper than liberty; it is responsibility."

Standards

Committee

AVE you ever been warned about "cutting" campus? Did you leave your coat in a heap in Harrison Lobby? Have you ever been warned about leaving chapel before the faculty and seniors? If so, then you've seen the Standards Committee in action.

Remember the charming gowns in the Oldgirl-Newgirl wedding? What a time they had this year getting dresses of one style and color!

This committee, composed of Ann Gough, chairman, with nine members appointed by the President of Student Government and the Dean of Women, is really a versatile group. They do everything from aiding in the maintenance of proper standards of dress, conduct, and social activities on campus to serving refreshments during intermission at the dances. The approved essentials of a good wardrobe are emphasized in the annual fashion show which the Standards Committee sponsors each year.

Whether concerned with a mere teacup or with questions of fine courtesy, they have stood for self-respecting conduct and a due consideration of others.

ing around among the guests, welcoming visitors and talking with the faculty. You see them at dances, serving punch and standing in the receiving line. You see them everywhere in evening dresses, every time there is something going on. They are the Social Committee.

They are nine hard workers, headed by their chairman, Dot Councill, who has throughout the year been responsible for having everything run smoothly, and on time.

They were the ones who invited you to those teas and then met you graciously and served you refreshments. They were the ones who decorated for the dances, arranged for the orchestras, sold you your bid, and then received you at the door in Reed. Remember?—Or did you think that the flowers in Alumnae Hall, the candles on the table, and the fire in the wide fire-place were just accidents? And when you saw these girls gliding around the reception room in long dresses, you would scarcely have guessed that they had just put in a few hours of hard work to see that everything would go exactly right. What could we do without them?

Young Women's Christian Association

Women's Christian Association, under the leader-ship of Ruth Lynch, began with the annual camp retreat for the cabinet members in the fall. It was here that the plans for the coming year were formulated.

The Y. W. girls assisted with registration for the fall quarter and, of course, with the welcoming of the new girls. The Big Sister-Little Sister party was held shortly after college opened, and the beautiful candlelight service, held a week later, recognized the new members.

The Freshman Commission, organized in the fall, divided its work into four groups: worship, social service, art, and publicity. The girls on the social service committee visited the Children's Home on Sunday afternoons. The publicity committee supplied materials for the regular bulletin board, which was especially interesting this year, and the art committee was in charge of the board for Sunday announcements.

The Upperclassman Commission, headed by Marie Suttle, assisted in the work at the Red Cross office in Harrisonburg. They also decorated the children's ward at the hospital at Hallowe'en.

The Y. W. C. A. sponsored a food drive in the fall to provide some of the needy families of this vicinity a Thanksgiving dinner.

December brought the Christmas pageant, with Martha Jane Draper as the Madonna. Later followed the annual Kid Party in the dining halls.

During the winter quarter a religiousemphasis week-end was held. The Reverend A. E. Acey, of the Boulevard Methodist Church, Richmond, was our campus guest during that period. The program consisted of special vesper services each evening, prayer groups in all the dormitories at night, morning watch at an early hour, and discussion groups at different times during the day. "Facing Tomorrow" was the theme of this religious emphasis season. Some of the topics for discussion were "Making Today Count," "The Valley of Vision," "What Can I Believe?" "The Things That Count," "The Right Road." The subjects for the three prayer group meetings were "Now Abideth Faith," "Now Abideth Hope," "Now Abideth Love." The week-end culminated in a Sunday Church Service, held in Wilson Auditorium, with Mr. Acey delivering the sermon, "A Faith to Live By."

Mrs. Ethel Ould, of Roanoke, was a guest of the Y. W. C. A. one week-end. Mrs. Ould, an authority on boy-girl relationships, spoke at the Sunday afternoon services, and led a discussion group later.

Exchange programs were given by students from Mary Baldwin College, Washington and Lee University, and Shenandoah College.

Sunday services and Thursday evening vespers were held throughout the year. Other organizations on campus were in charge of some of these meetings. The cabinet met once a week to plan and discuss the work to be done.

The Y. W. girls helped also to distribute yarn for the Red Cross in the knitting room every day. The March of Dimes took place in the winter quarter.

The second candle-light service of the year was held in the spring, when the new officers were installed. Because of the war-saving time, which made it so bright that candles on the quadrangle would have been ineffective, only the cabinet members carried candles. The entire group, however, dressed in white, joined hands in one big circle on the quadrangle, and sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," a hymn that typifies the spirit of the Young Women's Christian Association.

the things that happen from week to week, the Breeze comes out every Friday evening.

Within its official domain—marked on the outside by the sign, BREEZE ROOM, PRESS HEADQUARTERS, and on the inside by the telephone minus its mouthpiece, two unhappy looking typewriters on a cluttered table that sags curiously in the middle, wire baskets, yellow paper, and walls covered with phone numbers, staffpoems that never break into print, and the motto, "Be glad of life because it gives you the chance to love, to work, to play, and to look up at the stars"—here the Breeze prepares for its weekly blow.

Here the four pages are filled somehow, while the staff pauses to settle for itself the problems of the nation and the college, and to know laughter and disappointment.

Because working on the paper was fun, the editorial staff gave up studying Tuesday and Thursday nights, the circulation staff gave up dessert Friday evenings, and the business staff plodded downtown every week.

The Breeze carried the scoop of the year when it announced Glenn Miller's salute to

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Athletic Association, is composed of the A. A. officers, sports leaders, class representatives, varsity captains, and presidents of the athletic clubs.

The year began with a sports carnival in Reed and Ashby gyms, and a swimming exhibition in the pool.

The new tennis courts were formally opened in the fall with an exhibition match played by Dorothy Round Little and Mary Hardwick. The players, both of whom are English, were on a tour for the benefit of the British War Relief Society.

Class hockey also was sponsored by the council in the fall. The basketball season was opened by the Oldgirl-Newgirl game, and followed by class basketball. The juniors, the Class of '43, won the championship for the third consecutive year.

The council sponsored a chapel program in April, and their main activity, May Day, was held on May 9.

Sports offered by the A. A. Council include hockey, basketball, badminton, tennis, volley ball, archery, hiking, baseball, swimming, and horseback riding. This is certainly carrying out the Council's motto, "A sport for everyone."

HOCKEY

AGKIE Turnes, captain of the '41-'42 hockey team, was the first Madison student to make first string Southeast National Hockey Team in her position as right wing, having made the All-Virginia Team, which was chosen in the tournament at Westhampton. Dot Wilkinson, next year's varsity captain, and Hannah Heath were chosen for second string Virginia Team, and Wilkinson made the Southeast Reserve Team. Playing their traditional rivals — Mary Washington, Westhampton, Sweet Briar, and William and Mary—the team tied the first two and were defeated by the others.

Mary Washington...... 1—1 Westhampton...... 0—0

Sweet Briar 0—4
William and Mary...... 0—6

At the Annual Virginia Tournament Miss Helen Marbut, our varsity coach, was awarded the National A Umpire Rating, being one of the four in the South to receive this recognition.

BASKETBALL

HEPurple and Gold Basketball Team, under the leadership of Captain Tommy Jacobs, had a most successful year.

The basketball season was opened with a hard-earned victory over Emory and Henry College with a score of 15-13 on our home court. Our next game was with the Alumnae Team, whom we anticipate as rivals each year. This left the varsity team triumphant with a score of 26-23. William and Mary, our next opponent, was completely overwhelmed by Madison, the score being 35-8. We then journeyed to Radford. Sad was the outcome—Madison 20, Radford 42. But Madison shone in all her glory to outwit her traditional rival, Westhampton, with a 25-11 victory. The season came to a close when we bowed to Farmville with a loss of 33-18.

The equestriennes of Madison are numerous. Riding has been offered this year on a monthly basis, with instructions available. A ring has been constructed on the back campus, where the more ambitious riders may put the horses through their fancy paces.

More girls turned out for volley ball this year than ever before. The freshmen ran away with all honors in the number interested. Four teams were formed, and from these one freshman team was finally chosen. At the close of the intramural games the frosh came out on top, with the seniors not far behind. Miss Covington, the faculty sponsor, has even greater plans for next year.

Badminton, too, proved to be popular with the girls. The annual intramurals were held with much success.

Swimming was an all-season favorite. Classes for beginners and for more advanced swimmers were held under the instruction of Miss Savage, and an intramural meet and a play day were the culmination of the year's activities.

A great addition to the sport life were the six new tennis courts, located on the back campus. They were formally opened by Mary Hardwick and Mrs. Dorothy Round Little, world champion tennis players. The courts proved an incentive for the girls, and tennis playing attained a new peak among the numerous sports on the campus.

Meetings are held every second and fourth Monday of the month, with every other program given over to physical activities. This phase of work was introduced this year, but it met with immediate success.

are to be found splashing in the college pool. First comes practising. They do water formations, fancy diving, and tests of endurance, and improve their various strokes. When this is finished, the girls play a wave-dashing game of water polo. This is only one of the numerous water games which are played amid shouting and spluttering.

This is the fourth year of the Porpoise Club here on campus. Their activities throughout the session have been quite numerous. In the fall they put on an aquacade of fancy swimming, water formations, fancy dives, and comic dives. They also sponsored a swimming program. The most important feature of this was a telegraphic meet.

STRATFORD DRAMATIC CLUB

NDER the leadership of their director, Dr. Argus Tresidder, and their president, Corinne Riley, Stratford members proved their versatility in three productions.

In Ladies in Retirement, a psychological melodrama, especially memorable characterizations were done by Jean Jones as Ellen Creed, the housekeeper, by Dr. Argus Tresidder as the light-fingered Cockney, Albert Feather, and by Winnie Mauck, the unfortunate exactress.

Heading the cast of Stage Door was Jean Barnes as Terry Randall, the courageous little actress with an insatiable love for the stage.

In Terry, Stratford members saw the personification of Stratford spirit—that inexplicable devotion that makes the cast and production staff wish for more rehearsals, even after the "big night" is over. The same spirit explains the long hours that Margaret Wright and her stage crew spend on the "set," the care Nancy Lee Throgmorton and her assistants give to the lights, the quiet artistry of Barbara Tillson's make-up department, and the enthusiastic work of Brownie Lester's "props," the costume mistresses, and the business staff.

For the commencement production Dr. Argus Tresidder wrote and directed the first revue in Madison's history—a hilarious fast-stepping show abounding in jokes, dances, and wild antics. The cast reveled in it, and the audience loved it. Another Stratford success!

To its sponsor, Mr. Logan, and to its honorary members—Dr. Schubert, Dr. Pickett, Mr. Wilton, Overton Lee, and Jack Fretwell—Stratford owes many thanks.

The full members are: Jo Anderson, Jean Barnes, Evangeline Bollinger, Shirley Harrison, Evelyn Heflin, Fannie Hutcheson, Jean Jones, Brownie Lester, Winnie Mauck, Virginia McIlhaney, Eleanor Pincus, Elizabeth Pranis, Corinne Riley, Carrie Ann Stewart, Nancy Lee Throgmorton, Barbara Tillson, Charlotte Weeks, and Margaret Wright.

During the month of January the tragic news of Margaret Brunschwyler's untimely death was first communicated to her fellow members. Although she was no longer at Madison, her work with Stratford during the two previous years had endeared her to everyone in the club. By her tireless efforts to further dramatics on campus she had set an outstanding example. It is Stratford's hope that in this past year's work some progress has been made towards the achievement of Margaret's ideals.

To our Glee Club long trips were denied by the you-know-what; so they gave a concert to us here in our auditorium, and never could they have found a more appreciative audience. They did, however, take a few short trips to Roanoke and later to Washington, appearing in several schools. In our nation's capital they sang in a festival with other similar organizations. May Day and Commencement were the next big events on our calendar, and the Glee Club carried on its now traditional activities in connection with these events.

There are lots of little things in being a Glee Club girl. She will always remember not hearing the chapel speakers. Candle-lit initiations, "Popeye, the Sailor Man," singing any and everywhere, knocking radia-

Miss Michaels, you see, directs the Choral Club. You remember how they caroled around at our dormitories just before we went home for Christmas. Lovely, wasn't it? They sang in chapel too, you remember, and at several of the local churches.

The singing of these girls was not for us alone, however. They went out "into the world," so to speak, and sang, leaving a memory of good music, well rendered.

The Choral Club is noted for its beautiful singing, characterized by remarkable diction. The white note as a pledge-emblem is well chosen, for it symbolizes purity of tone. The gold note as the emblem of the organization is a symbol of the wealth of musicality and ability which they possess.

There is a training center for the ones who got cold feet when up for tryouts into the larger organizations. The music they sing is no easy melody line, but is often a complicated number which they take in their stride. They sang for Y. W., and we thought they were good. Under Jean Birchall's direction, they have emerged, another choral organization of which Madison may be justly proud.

In the spring the orchestra gave two campus concerts—one in chapel, without benefit of student body, except as an audience, and then in the evening, all decked out in its best bib and tucker—pardon me, its best net and taffeta.

The activities of the orchestra were not confined to the campus. They made a tour in the vicinity of Washington. A representative segment was sent to the Norfolk Music Festival March 7 and 8.

As to music, which is the basic aim of the organization, we heard things from Mozart to Grofé, from concertos to "The Chocolate Soldier." Performance—superb; appearance—ditto. So, off go our kerchiefs and porkpies to Mr. Marshall, who brought this group from the tiny nucleus of the Blue-Stone Ensemble to a very impressive and greatly-to-be-praised Madison College Orchestra.

That lovely music you hummed with at many a birthday dinner and tea was supplied by these girls. I'll bet you didn't know that. They remember, though, borrowing everybody's music, and getting it all mixed up, hoping no one heard that nasty note which stuck itself in.

The club gave a scholarship to a student, one who had ability, but who, for financial reasons, was unable to study. In this manner it has, from year to year, contributed toward making musical training possible for the deserving ones. By the very nature of the club, it encourages students to study and to study hard.

Theirs is a true fellowship and service to our college, in the company of the tops in voice, organ, piano—but alas, no ukulele!

KAPPA DELTA PI

APPA Delta Pi, an honorary fraternity in education, has been active at Madison College since January 30, 1928, the date of the installation of the local chapter—Alpha Chi. The main ideals of Kappa Delta Pi are expressed in the vows taken by each member: science, service, fidelity to humanity, and toil. Membership is among juniors and seniors and is based on several factors—preparation for teaching, scholastic achievement, leadership ability, and strength of character.

Kappa Delta Pi had a busy year under the sponsorship of Dr. Gifford and the leadership of the following officers: Ruth Kiser, president; Martha Lee, vice-president; Dorothy Smith, corresponding secretary; Evelyn Jefferson, recording secretary; Betty Ames, treasurer, and Helen Hounchell, historian.

Just after the installation of the new officers this year the chapter entertained, with a tea in Senior Hall, the District G Teachers' Meeting, held on Madison campus.

Several members did some fine work in coaching underclassmen before examinations. These girls were given help with English, chemistry, nutrition, biology, and mathematics. This work was continued throughout the year as a practical demonstrate.

Martha Lee, vice-president of the local chapter, was chosen to represent Kappa Delta Pi at the National Convention held in San Francisco, California.

There have been a variety of programs in the meetings this year. Among the speakers were Dr. W. J. Gifford, dean of the college, and Dr. Otto Frederikson, of the Social Science department. Dr. Frederikson gave the members a summary of world affairs.

In February Sigma Phi Lambda presented a chapel program. The speaker was Miss Ruth Schular, a graduate of Madison, who helped to establish Sigma Phi Lambda in 1935.

Among other activities, Sigma Phi Lambda bought a tuberculosis bond, awarded a scholarship, and took part in the college's civilian defense program.

RE you interested in art? Do you like to wander out over a green hill in the sunny springtime and sketch crumbling fences and lazy cows? If so, you are probably a member of the Art Club. Each quarter they squash floppy berets on the heads of a few carefully chosen, talented girls, interested in art, and garb them in smocks. Then, after a formal initiation, these girls are taken into the circle of pencil-chewers, brush-slingers, and clay-pokers.

You are liable almost any and everywhere to fall over these talented students, who, with pencil in hand, are busily transforming ordinary paper into scenes of loveliness. This year the Art Club has made a special effort to do more sketching around the campus, making studies of both landscapes and girls. We have all appreciated and admired the posters they have made for different organizations, for various publicity purposes, and for our National Defense bulletin board.

And who doesn't remember our search for Miss Madison, '42, which was sponsored by these same artistically minded lassies? The cup was presented to Dinny Agnor, who turned out to be the fairest young lady eligible for this honor.

The club is interested in everything in the way of art. They sketch, do clay work, modeling, and many other forms of art.

Aside from their bi-monthly meetings, these students got together for good times. Then, in the spring, they spent a glorious week-end at camp.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

tional Relations Club is attempting to study and to discuss, in an impartial way, national and international affairs, in order to obtain a clearer and more broadminded understanding of the world situation. The social science department sponsors this organization and lends its interpretation of events to a more thorough and efficient accomplishment of the purposes of the club.

This time of world tumult

The students interested in this field of study are given opportunity each quarter to join the International Relations Club. A part of the initiation requirement is that each would be member must review a book on current affairs. The members have access to the newest books on world events through the Andrew Carnegie Institute.

One new feature adopted by this year's group was that of exchanging programs with similar groups in other schools. The list of regular activities included lectures, discussions, and open forums, often led by a faculty member who has made a study of the particular situation in question. These programs were open to all students and proved to be of much interest to those who attended. The chapel hour conducted by the I. R. C. girls was enjoyed by the student body and the faculty.

But these girls aren't "all work and no play." They left their serious thinking for a frolic at the college camp one week-end in the spring.

HE t

ASSOCIATION FOR CHILDHOOD EDUCATION

HE theme and the purpose of the Association for Childhood Education is to bring about a better understanding of the elementary grade work and of the children of these grades. The year's work of this club is centered around this general idea. The campus organization is a branch of the national society, and is open to all students interested.

The first meeting of the year was opened by a report from Miss Walker, of the training school, who went to Los Angeles to a National A. C. E. meeting during the summer. She told the girls many interesting things, and through this report they gained a clearer understanding of the things they were to accomplish this year.

Christmas time means toy time for A. C. E. girls. At this season of the year, the club sponsors a drive for toys to be sent to the poor children. These toys are made by the members, and this has become an annual custom with the girls.

As human beings are all different, their activities and interests are diversified. Recognizing this, the club members were divided into the following groups: Music, Dramatics, Storytelling, Art, and Book Selection. Each of these groups is responsible for a program for a club meeting. The Book Selection group had Miss Hoover talk to the club and show them various new books for children.

The fitting climax to the year's activities came with a picnic at Riven Rock, where the entire club joined together in fellowship and fun.

The A. C. E. officers are: Betty Lou Williams, president; Margaret Gwaltney, vice-president; Florence Atherholt, secretary; Olive Ann Butler, reporter; Evelyn Gilley, treasurer; Bertha Huffman, chairman program committee.

After March's chilly winds depart, the club explores the garden for any hopeful sprouts. When they settle down to work, the weeds disappear! These girls are in charge of the college garden. They helped plant and care for flowers used in dining hall and dormitory decorations, and as settings for social affairs in Alumnae Hall.

The members made a careful study of different flowers, simple floral arrangements, and famous Virginia gardens. Colored slides were used in this study.

Lifelong memories will linger with those who hiked to Newman's Woods in search of suitable plants for indoor gardens—memories of their work blended with memories of hours spent together in laughter and relaxation: murmuring groups around a bonfire that painted the darkening sky with tongues of flame . . . wieners and the lusty crackle and snap of the firewood . . . marshmallows toasted golden brown over the glowing embers . . . the slow, reluctant trek back to campus.

Among the projects carried out this year was the cutting of garments for the Red Cross. During the fall quarter, the students did this as an aid to the Harrisonburg Red Cross, but later, when the Madison College Committee on Civilian Defense

Activities was organized and functioning, the girls on campus did the sewing as well.

CLARA BARTON CLUB

HIS year's activities in the Clara Barton Club have been most timely and interesting. Under the sponsorship of Dr. Weems and Miss Waples, with Phyllis Freed as president, these girls were encouraged in their purpose of becoming nurses or technicians. The majority of the club is made up of freshmen and sophomores who wish to follow Clara Barton's pathway of service.

This year the girls were taken through the Rockingham Memorial Hospital and were fortunate in being able to witness a delicate abdominal operation. This gave them a close and intimate picture of their life-to-be. At another meeting Dr. Phillips told them fully of the relation between world affairs and nursing, showing them the important part which they as nurses and technicians may play in the healing of the nations.

According to the girls' enthusiastic bull-session reports, the most excellent talk they ever heard on "Public Health" was delivered by the District Health Nurse. This not only aroused them to the needs of the communities, but to their personal habits of health and cleanliness as well. Realizing that it takes individuals to make up a community, they were glad to learn how to aid by obeying these important rules personally.

Other speakers added much to the bimonthly gatherings. Deep in their hearts Clara Barton members value and treasure all the knowledge they have gleaned from their leaders and experiences. When they reach the tops of their chosen careers, they will look back with wide smiles on the joy of their club-member days.

CURIE SCIENCE CLUB

ence Club has been maintained on our campus by those students who hold science high in their interests. Its purpose is to establish firmly, and maintain, an interest in science and scientific research in all its branches, to cooperate with educational institutions and with the Virginia Academy of Science in fostering an interest in scientific matters, to provide a forum for the presentation and discussion of papers on scientific subjects, and to provide opportunities for cooperation among its members.

INCE 1934 the Curie Sci-

Thus through the medium of science these girls are bound together in joyous fellowship. Under the guidance of President Lois Oliver and the other officers—Louise Griggs, Margaret Hawley, Alice Tucker, Bessie Johnson, and Martha Jane Draperthe club breezes along, discovering new and interesting facts. Their motto, "On with science!" has become a byword every day, as well as in their meetings.

Exciting experiments were carried on during the year. Among the first of these was the Taste Threshold, finding the condition of each member's tongue. Then Mr. McWhite taught them of the complicated insides of the movie machine. Their reward was seeing several movie shorts. Somewhat later the club was enlightened by Dr. Williams on the Virginia Academy of Science. And so it went throughout the year: new experiments, fresh news of the scientific world from well-versed speakers, and new skills added to their already high number of talents.

ALPHA RHO DELTA

month is the night of nights for those of us who are interested in the classics.

HE first Tuesday in each

Remember how we would head for Reed 9, not knowing what surprise might be in store for us—whether we were going to see a group of slides (in technicolor) or some phase of Roman life and the countries in which the ancients lived, or an old Roman coin, probably one that Cicero or Virgil handled—of course hoping to see both!

This year six members were taken into Alpha Rho Delta. They not only had to be interested in the classics, and to know something about them, making a high scholastic average and being able to distinguish the statue of Mercury from that of Caesar, but they also helped members accomplish the goal for the year. This was twofold: first, to be remembered for what our club did toward National Defense; second, to develop a greater appreciation of the Greek and Roman classics and to create interest in them among the entire student body. For instance, Dr. Sawhill, our sponsor, invited all students—not merely the members of Alpha Rho Delta— up to Reed 9 to see his collection of Greek and Roman antiquities.

FRENCH CLUB

L soir, mes amies. Et comment allez-vous? Je suis très contente de vous voir ici."

So might a typical meeting of the French Club begin, for it is this organization which helps to keep alive interest in French at Madison.

A student becomes a member of Le Cercle Français upon showing particular aptitude for and interest in that tongue. Whether she may later pursue her study of the language or be forced to drop it, her membership in this group provides a pleasant and stimulating means of keeping her French fluent.

The activities of the club have been unusually interesting this year, owing mainly to the capable leadership of the president, Grace Richardson.

Mademoiselle la Présidente planned many worth-while things for Le Cercle to do. First was a play presented at one of the regular meetings, satirizing pseudo-French women. Then there were initiations and a big Valentine party.

One of the most interesting things which Le Cercle Français did was answering a letter that one of the members received from a French soldier in Africa. His letter was very colorful and revealed a heart broken over his country's plight. Hence several members of the club, with the advice of Miss Cleveland, wrote him a sympathetic answer.

For the annual chapel program, the Circle presented Dr. Mary Armentrout, a former member, who received a medal from the French Government while she was a student at the University of Virginia. Dr. Armentrout spoke on conditions in France.

With about nineteen active members and several honorary members, the French Club this session, even more than in other years, has proved itself an active and worthwhile campus organization.

SPANISH CLUB

LTHOUGH just a babe-inclubs among us, the Spanish Club has made us sit up and take notice of it and its doings. After a meeting under their new sponsor from Roanoke, Miss Barksdale, they wander around dreamily, muttering such odd sounds as "mañana, lluvia, escuela, gobierno, desayuno." Likewise they sing cute little ditties, but no one can ever understand what they say. Occasionally it's even a popular song. Of course, there's the fact to be considered that each member must be a second-year Spanish student or a native of some Spanish-speaking country. That, perhaps, accounts for their odd actions.

This year the gavel is wielded by their able president, Virginia McIlhany. The other officers are Virginia Ferguson, vice-president; Josephine Anderson, secretary;

Iris Ruiz, treasurer.

As to their purpose of making Madison Spanish-conscious, they seem to have done an almost complete job. Their plans for the future aim high and may bring to light many things of interest to us all. Since this is such a young idea on campus, we are watching it closely and are expecting great things.

When Dr. Fernando Martinez was going away in January on leave of absence, the club members got into a huddle and came out with a surprise farewell gift for him. Deprived for the time being of his many and varied services, El Club Español realizes how valuable was his aid. However, the talented Miss Barksdale has capably guided them on, with her warmth and sparkle and wit, plus her great love for Spanish.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

Baptist Student Union was October, when they entertained the State B. S. U. Convention. This entertainment consisted of a banquet in the Senior Hall dining room, the housing of 240 delegates, and the arranging for speeches, discussions, and what not. "The Greatest Thing This Side of Heaven" was the title of a talk delivered by Dr. Henry Alford Porter. At the convention, the Madison group was honored in that one of its members, Margaret Wright, received a state office as third vice-president.

LE great month for the

Through the functioning of this union on campus, more students have kept up their ties with their church, and the attendance has been increased. More interest has been shown in church and Sunday school work. The B. S. U. girls are making a place for themselves in the heart of the church and the townspeople. The Union serves as a balance wheel and helps the girls solve their religious and social problems.

Plans for the year's work were laid out in the fall at the Retreat at Massanetta Springs. All the members of the Council were present, and they were full of ideas for the coming year, so that the task of keeping a full schedule has not been very difficult.

The faculty advisor, Mrs. W. E. Davis, has been a great inspiration to the group. She has spurred them on to greater achievements and roused their lagging spirits on numerous occasions. All in all, she has given her best to the group, and in return the B. S. U. has given her its best.

Much work has been put on the year's activities, and the wholehearted interest of the president, Nixie Owen, has led each member to do her best, so that the B. S. U. as an integrated whole has been able to accomplish its purpose—that is, to bring about a more church-conscious campus.

SESAME CLUB

UST as the magic word "Sesame!"

meant "Open!" in Arabian Nights, so it means "open" today; through the Sesame Club the doors of Madison are flung wide to the day students, who may walk into the life on campus and become a part of it.

The day students walk into another kind of life—"a part of the whole," we call it—life in the Sesame Club itself. Here forty-three girls, who share one another's joys and disappointments, learn to cooperate and to work with one another—learn how to give as well as take.

It is always a source of pleasure and pride for the senior members to watch their "little sisters" find their places in the club, whose only requirement for membership is that the girl be a day student.

The club has many varied interests and activities, among them our Christmas party, tea, luncheon, camping trip, and picnic, which we look forward to with anticipation and which we make an annual affair.

One of our two most important aims is to get each one of our members to become a willing participant in all the social life of the group; the other is to share "our" Madison with the new members.

Almost everyone on campus knows where we hang our hats and have our bull sessions. Since you're down our way at the post office three or four times a day, come on across the hall and hang up your hat, too.

Jerman Club members work hard on their dances — but their results are always good, for their dances are fun.

A blue-and-silver dance program lies among other long-to-be-remembered souvenirs of Madison—its figure-skater cover design reminiscent of German midwinters, when seniors and sophomores danced to Johnny Satterfield's music at an "Ice-Skaters' Ball," under a silver-studded sky of net.

The dansante was open for the first time to all four classes. The banquet held afterwards for German Club members and dates was another innovation, the proceeds of which were used for Defense contributions.

Cotillion Club dances are always fun, but midwinters are extra-special.

Saint Valentine's Day and Cotillion midwinters go marked with red in memory's diary of the year's juniors and freshmen, who swapped dances to the music of Freddie Lee's orchestra. In an "Ice Palace" in Reed, the King and Queen of Hearts— Hamilton Fox, Jr., and Evelyn Jefferson—after reigning over a figure of Cotillion members and dates, waltzed alone through the court of white-garbed girls and tuxedo-uniformed men. Another feature of the dance set was the dansante, open to all four classes.

Lanier society was the first literary society to be founded on campus.

Yes, Lanier society was the first literary society to be founded on campus. It was born in October 1909, and has lived to be one of the oldest established groups. The society originally had as its purpose to be truly literary and took its name from that of Sidney Lanier, the eminent Southern poet.

For many years Lanier fulfilled its literary functions but, as the demand grew for social organizations, it gradually changed its purpose and became purely social. New members were voted in and subjected to a two-day initiation in which the campus became alive with violets, flutes, the club symbols, and peculiar antics. Always this club was the sponsor of many enjoyable as well as educational entertainments . . . And now Lanier is not being destroyed, it is only becoming a part of a larger organization.

Lee Literary society was the second literary society to be organized on campus.

It, too, was originally quite literary in nature, and offered a little friendly competition to the girls in Lanier. The group took its name in honor of the great soldier, and used the traditional sword as a symbol, with the colors gold and gray chosen to represent purity and loyalty.

Later Lee, too, became a social society. The club turned away from the intellectual side of things, now well covered by various organizations that had sprung up, not to mention classes, and put its stress upon the lighter side of life. Students enjoyed the lively "goating" days and the various chapel and other programs that were put on during the course of time by the Lee girls. Those who were members of Lee remember the fineness that this society stood for, as well as the fun, and will remain proud of having belonged.

age Literary Society has sought to express what old Virginia stood for.

The baby of the literary societies was Page Society, named for Thomas Nelson Page, a true Virginia writer. Page Society was born during the period of change that was taking place in the societies and thus had a short life in the literary direction. Although somewhat smaller than the other organizations for some time, Page developed rapidly into an enterprising and energetic sister club.

When initiations for Page came around, the campus found itself in need of sun glasses for all, for the bright, cherry-red caps and capes, not to mention other accessories of the hard-working goats, added considerable color to the day. This was a lively group, irrepressibly gay, but always with the true spirit of our college.

Ilpha Literary Society has been what its name implies, a real literary society.

After the three older organizations had begun to change their purpose from a literary to a social one, there was felt a need for the establishment of a group that would be truly literary. Accordingly, Alpha Society made its appearance on campus.

In addition to being seriously "literary," this club formed a background for the other societies. For some time students were required to belong to Alpha before becoming members of Lee or Lanier or Page. Later this requirement was dropped and, later still, Alpha began to vote in members by methods similar to those previously adopted by the other groups. Throughout the years Alpha continued to function as a literary organization, helping to develop some of the more thoughtful interests on the campus.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

longer is the Alpha Upsilon chapter the baby chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma. It had to give up its title last year, but we aren't too unhappy to admit that we're growing up.

The Sigmas began their career this session with a picnic and informal get-together at the brand-new house that has become so much a part of us during its first months of existence.

One of the most outstanding and memorable events of the year was the Regional Meet at Farmville, which many of our members attended. They returned with glowing accounts of the national officers present, the inspiring meetings, and the other Sigmas they met—oh, yes, and of course the delicious luncheons and banquets they attended.

We lost one of our most outstanding members before Christmas because of illness. Everyone hated to see Jappy leave—we miss her more every day—but we are looking forward eagerly to her return.

The Pan-Hellenic dance was a tremendous success this year, of course, and we're hoping that it is on its way toward becoming an actual annual event. We benefited greatly from the dance, as the lovely new furniture now in the House testifies.

One of our greatest pleasures was the visit paid us by Mary Hastings Page, assistant to our national president. We all felt as though we had one of our girls back, and we look upon future visits from her with anticipation.

Social service has been plentiful this year. Under Catherine Funkhouser's very competent management we collected approximately $175 from the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals on campus. As a Defense project we all joined in and solicited, as well as collected, magazines and books of many types to be sent to our men in service. Most of our members have visited the Children's Home in Harrisonburg and helped the youngsters during their study hours.

"Rush" week rolled around again in February, and we all had marvelous times planning our parties and were greatly excited over the thirty new additions to our chapter. Needless to say we are vastly proud of them

Because of our interest in aiding in problems that have resulted from the war, we cut our expenditures this year and stayed on campus to have our Founders' Day banquet in the college dining hall. It meant as much and more to us, and we had a wonderful time, being inspired all over again by the work of those who have gone before us.

This spring was one full of activity, with special emphasis on the impressive initiation ceremony in April.

It was the first initiation conducted by our new president, Jean Bell. "Mo" had a knack of getting things done and keeping things moving that made this past year a most successful one for Tri-Sig here. We are sure that Jean will more than prove her-

ALPHA SIGMA ALPHA

SPIRE, Seek, Attain" is the open motto of Alpha Sigma Alpha. We are still young, having been on campus just three years, but we feel that we have achieved the highest ideals ever, through the friendly spirit that our girls have. Sorority sisterhood gives each of us a deeper and finer appreciation of life as each day brings us into closer harmony.

Our attainments have been most significant this year. In September we launched ourselves into a real Alpha Sigma House. Here all the girls live, work, and play together, and our joys cannot be surpassed Those Sunday night suppers were just perfect. What if we did burn a few hamburgers, or cried over the onions? It was glorious, wasn't it?

On the night of November 15, the most important date in our history, we bumped out to Shenandale in the college bus to celebrate our fortieth Founders' Day. All other chapters throughout the United States were doing that same thing. There, with soft music, scrumptious food, and loads of fun, we paid our tributes to each founder.

December ushered in Pan-Hellenic dances and, with the other two sororities, we had a most successful dance. Our share of the booty went toward the purchase of that beautiful sofa and that soft easy chair in the living room of the House, where they beckon so invitingly after classes. Our Christmas party came, too, that month. We treated the house to kitchen presents. Now on Sunday nights we have a plate apiece!

Two outstanding events were the two periods of rushing, with their excitement of parties and general entertainment. Especially we recall our "Café Society" parties, the novelty bar, and Gough, the genial bartender. Naomi McAllen, Mary Burger, and Janet Fletcher, clad in plaid and plaits, false teeth, and freckles, greeted everyone in the gym one afternoon, when we had our square dance.

The anticipation as rushees handed in their acceptances and, finally, the inspiring solemnity of both pledging and initiation services were fitting climaxes to the rushing season.

In May, as in the spring of each year, special recognition was given to our mothers on Mothers' Day. At that time we had our Mother-Patroness ceremony, followed by breakfast and group attendance at church.

Among our most treasured remembrances are those of our advisors, Miss Louise Memories such as these will live on and be forever inspirational to us as Beta Epsilon chapter grows and prospers.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

that this has been the most eventful and happiest year since the Alpha Omicron chapter has been in existence! And why shouldn't it be when—

Our new house, which is "home" to all Pi Kaps, is our pride and joy because it has brought us all so closely together and has made possible just scads of informal gatherings and parties which we simply couldn't have had otherwise.

"Prexy" Phyllis Callahan has led us faithfully and enthusiastically through all our tribulations. And just when we thought we'd never be able to make it without her (graduation, you know), we were blessed with a brand new leader that all the girls are counting on—and we know Dot Wilkinson will live up to our expectations.

The fall "rush" season was a successful week of fun, with rushees registering at the Pi Kap Army recruiting station in Alumnae Hall. The medical board discovered several cases of "heart trouble." Since it was of a proper kind, however, no one was deferred; so the rushees took a few pot shots at Hitler, and everybody had a wonderful time. Then came the formal opening of Pi Kappa Sigma Night Club, with celebrities, featured entertainers and, of course—our own special champagne (ice, cherry, and ginger ale!) When seventeen of the "draftees" became our pledges, we greeted them with a "coke" party at the house.

"Shenandale," the quiet, dignified, colonial home near Elkton, was the setting for our second Founders' Day Banquet on November 18th. Our two sponsors, Mrs. Althea Johnston and Miss Nellie Walker, along with Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Varner, and several mothers and fathers, were there to help us celebrate.

Then, on December 6th, Pan-Hellenic sponsored its second annual dance, and the snowmen, Santa Claus, and the red-and-green plaid ceiling made it a dance we'll not soon forget.

Christmas rush being over, we began looking forward to a new type of rush—spring rush week. There was a barbecue at the Pi Kap Plantation, complete with belles, pickaninnies, and—oh yes, barbecue! Since the first Night Club was so successful, we couldn't let another opportunity pass without partying at Club 11. So on Friday night we broke away from the traditional fish supper and let our Home Ec. majors get some experience.

Sponsors, faculty advisors, and patronesses were entertained at a house-warming in the spring.

And last—and best—Alpha Omicron chapter was host to the Pi Kappa Sigma District Convention the first of April. All the A. O. chapter members put in their appearance the first morning dressed in turquoise pullovers with the Greek letters in gold across the front. This certainly made a hit with the visiting girls, too!

Speaking of hearts (back a dozen para-without Pi Kap and all their sisters next year. That sounds good to us, because it certainly means they'll be back often to help us enjoy another year as we've enjoyed this one—if such a thing is possible!

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

gram of activities carried on by the Pan-Hellenic Council this year has been evidence of the way in which its members live up to the words of the purpose: "The governing of the three sororities, the promotion of better relationships among them, and influencing them to take an active interest in all college activ-pleased with the results of their unique rush parties.

Our annual Pan-Hellenic dance came next on the Council's calendar. The Southern Colonels from V. P. I. provided the music for these festivities, and a synthetic snow-storm furnished our decorative theme. Reed Gym was miraculously transformed into a thoroughly convincing outdoor setting, with a Christmassy flavor, which was simulated in the figure as well. You probably remember how the letters X-M-A-S were spelled out on the floor as the members of the council, sorority officers, and their dates met in the center of the room. The boys came down one side from a huge bag opened by Santa himself, while the girls poured down from the right side through the open door of a painted house.

In connection with the dance, the Council also sponsored an At Home for girls and their dates in Junior, Senior, and Alumnae Halls, before the dance.

The winter rush parties, held February 2-6, were carefully planned to catch the freshmen's wondering eyes. A. S. A. had a barn dance as its informal party, and a cabaret for its formal. Both reached the pinnacle of pleasurable entertainment, according to reports of those who were there.

Pi Kap had a barbecue and a night club, which was also unequalled in the estimation of its members, while Tri-Sig's haunted house and buffet supper are still being talked of in glowing terms by the people in the position to know.

Each sorority had at least one of these parties in its own House.

New officers for next year were installed March the thirteenth, which might have been an unlucky Friday for some people, but we think that our fortune in being able to acquire these capable leaders will banish doubt from any superstitious minds.

Next came the Pan-Hellenic banquet on April the thirtieth in Junior Dining Hall. This was attended by the sponsors, patronesses, and active and pledge members of all three sororities, as well as by the sponsors of the Pan-Hellenic Council.

With this banquet the Council drew its activities to a flourishing finish and handed over to next year's council the reins of governing intra-sorority relationships.

Variety characterized this year's lyceum series.

Ethel Bartlett and Rae Robertson, two of the most famous duo pianists, presented a concert in December.

In March John Erskine lectured on "The Adventure of Story Telling."

Martha Graham and her company of modern dancers appeared on our stage during Homecoming.

The final number was the concert by Charles Kullman, tenor, from the Metropolitan Opera Company.

In addition to these professional performances we were entertained by two productions of the Stratford Dramatic Club. "Ladies in Retirement" and "Stage Door" were presented by the club as a part of the lyceum series. And a very worth-while part it was, too!

Who Excelled

s we look back over the past year, there are some people who seem to stand out with unusual clearness in our minds and memories for one thing or another. Those who, in the opinion of the student body, have made the greatest contributions to our college life, who have been most outstanding are presented here.

Perhaps the things some of these people did were only routine duties that fall to persons entrusted with official responsibilities, but they performed these duties well and for this are recognized. Some of them did much more than merely their duty and for that were chosen by their fellow students to represent them. Others are on these pages for being the kind of persons one delights in knowing—sympathetic, genial, kind. Some are here for more than one of these reasons.

They all have one thing in common—they were chosen representatives to exemplify the best that Madison has to offer. They have achieved this, our pinnacle of college success.

These are they who excelled . . .

Jane Dingledine

Dingle is a real gods' gift to the student body and the kind of girl there ought to be more of around here. Charm, poise, and an A+ initiative. We just wonder how she manages to do all she does and still be so nice about it.

Ruth Lynch

Ruthie—the baby of the senior class—has a keen perception and understanding that greatly belie her status as "our youngster." And if you don't think there's dynamite lurking behind those long-lashed, wide brown eyes, then you just haven't seen Ruthie in action!

Betsy Ross

Betsy's the girl who has eyes that look as if they might have been put in with a smudged finger. And the way they twinkle is a sure sign that there's fun and frolic behind them, but it doesn't stop there. We didn't choose her for our Senior prexy for nothing, you know.

Julia Kilpatrick

If you ever saw a dark-eyed pixie of a girl, with feet and bangs flying in unison, running toward the mailbox some Monday after midnight with a parcel of past-due Breeze copy—then that was Kilpy. She is as talented and original as anyone would wish to be—and she uses those talents.

_ Hargard _ Hoore

If it's a song you'd like to hear, or an athlete you need, or a student, or maybe just a swell all-round fellow, call on "Mo"—she'll fill your bill.

Margaret Shelton

A rollicking storehouse of good humor or a willing and sympathetic ear, Shelton has all the qualities one desires in a charming acquaintance or a sincere good friend. She is our own ambassador of wit and wisdom.

Belly Sunford

No matter when you happen to amble past Sanford's room, you catch the sound of merry laughter or enthusiastic jitterbugging, and no wonder, for Betty is the very soul of gaiety and vivacity herself, and it seems to emanate from her,

Eleanor Harl and Dorothy Conneill

Pi Kap's twin presentation to the Mirror reflects the images of two decidedly different but captivating individuals. Winsome and carefree, Hart is the perfect picture of happiness; while efficient, neat-as-a-pin Dot typifies collegiate dignity.

Jacqueline Zurnes

Jackie doesn't need to be told how to win friends and to influence people. She does that and then some—all along with her athletics and everything else, too.

Dorothy Wilkinson

If you see a mop of blonde hair sailing around in the air after its owner who's chasing a hockey ball or collecting a fistful of good grades, you can bet that's "glamour gal" Dot. She does all right, not to mention all the prom trotting she manages to get in on the side.

Jean Bell

Here's the living refutation of the old adage that beauty and brains don't go together. Nice work if you can get it—and Jean has it!

Matilda Horn

Tilli says that she's at her best when riding horseback, but we've noticed that she does right well when doing the other things, too, such as writing and being a leader—but need we enumerate?

Evelyn Dent

Evelyn gets everything accomplished so quietly that we hardly know what's happening until it's done. And that's being a real leader.

Johnetta West

Johnnie's the girl who makes us realize the futility of work and worry. With an indelible grin and an unrestrained amiability, she disperses any of the clouds that loiter in her path.

Ann Brown

Maybe we weren't surprised at the powerful singing voice this "little bitty" girl has. But then, that just prepared us all for the other big things we discovered Ann could do.

Hope Buist

Grant did it almost eighty years ago, but since then, no one has conquered our collective Southern heart more completely than this golden-haired Hope Buist from Mount Vernon.

Looking Back on It All of going to college. It has meant work, too, but we have loved every minute of it.

We'll not forget our arrival on campus, our roommates, the homesickness, and fear of the newness of everything here. We'll not forget the friendliness of the students and faculty as they made us into a part of the student body.

We can never forget how the sunset shed a glory over the mountains, how the foliage and grass came out so fresh and green in the spring, how Wilson looked when it was lighted, how the red tile roofs stood out against the sky.

We will remember the beautiful candlelight services on the darkened campus; we will remember the bugler blowing "Japs"; we will remember holidays and Homecoming and May Day. And we will never forget Graduation!

Eight o'clock classes and trips downtown after four-thirty and assemblies, when sometimes it was a battle to stay awake and sometimes we wanted encores—these are part of our memories.

And now, looking back on it all—it has been truly wonderful.

Registration-in our eyes, a necessary evil . . .

When our trinks arrived and were unpacked, we began to feel at home—almost

OPENING DAYS

September: We arrived at Madison. Some of us drove up the road behind Alumnae Hall in the family car, with Dad to carry our bags, Mother to help us unpack, and little brother, Bobby, to make a nuisance of himself just the way he did at home—bless his heart! Many of us, balancing suitcases, hatboxes, and our teddy bears, alighted none too gracefully from a bus in front of the quadrangle.

We called on Mrs. Garber for our room assignments; we met our room-mates and fell to talking.

After renewing acquaintance with our trunks, the task of "getting settled" began in earnest. Conferences were held, at which we devised fascinating plans for decorating our room. "To have pennants or not to have pennants—that was the question."

Registration for classes brought a series of puzzling processes. We were almost too busy to be homesick, but it would have been good to see Mother. At length, we succeeded in filling out those blanks that seemed to jump out at us from everywhere.

Classes began, and we weren't late once—the first day.

Some of the girls had their families bring them to college. It was nice to have Dad and Mother to help - for a few hours, anyway

New friends and new thoughts enriched those days when we were "new girls," our first days, that had a lovely culmination in the Oldgirl-Newgirl Wedding.

WE WORK AND PLAY

Life at Madison means "doing things." Of course there were classes—classes in Wilson and Reed: "labs" in Maury. Some of them we loved; others we took because our department head said we had to. We made frequent expeditions to the library, where we produced countless term papers, essays, reports, and themes. Deep inside, whether we admit it or not, we know that every bit of it was good for us. But how we did work!

We played too. The gym decorated for "Mid-winters" left an impression upon our "inward eye" that won't be forgotten soon. We looked nice too—at least Ted and our roommate said so.

When December brought war to our country, we placed a ban on hysteria and gloomy features. Then we proceeded to recruit our spare time to devote to courses in first aid, nutrition, and canteen management.

Believing in the real importance of our part in the national effort, we went at all that we did with new vigor and enthusiasm.

HERE AND THERE

Madison means Wilson's majestic columns, convocations, classes. It means other things and other places, too.

It means the tea room, where Miss Blair and her staff make a fifteen-cent breakfast seem elegant, where we gather around tables for animated conversation or seek seclusion in a remote corner for a rendez-vous with our biology notes and a "coke" to accelerate the learning process.

Madison means the Post Office, where we peer hopefully into our boxes and then triumphantly open them to find three letters for our roommate, a package slip that means a box of Grandma's fudge, and a letter from Pete saying he can come to the May Day dance.

The "P. O." was the scene of lots of joy and surprises . . . and disappointments. It was another place we couldn't seem to stay away from

The telephone booth in Harrison is another frequented spot. Needless to say, the one night we wanted to use it thirty other people did, too.

There is a familiar person who belongs in our picture of all that is Madison—Mr. Roberts, standing at his post.

And we couldn't forget the Lost Chords who furnished us so much grand music for lots of occasions.

MAY DAY

May Day this year seemed even lovelier than ever, somehow. From the opening strains of the organ prelude, played by Evelyn Kuhnert, to the last swish of skirts as the court recessed, the whole performance was highly polished and well done.

Tall, stately Mil Alley was May Queen, in white net and lace. Her entrance, heralded by the four trumpeters, brought forth real gasps of admiration from the throng of visitors. Her maid of honor, brunette Betty Sanford, was striking, in lavender net and lace. The twelve maids with their twenty-four attendants made the front of Wilson Hall a lovely sight as their pastel frocks mingled in the light of the setting sun.

BETTY SANFORD, Maid-of-Honor

MILDRED ALLEY, Queen

The program was planned to resemble the May Day Festivals in England. After the organ overture, the Glee Club, serving as the Queen's chorus, sang three English Madrigals. The traditional English sweep preceded the processional, sweeping the way clean for the court. After the court had arrived and the Queen was crowned, the dancing began. The dancers stepped in perfect time to the old English folk tunes played on the piano. After the dancers had finished Black Nag, Gathering Peascods, and Rutfy-Tufty, the Hobby Horse riders did some very skillful tumbling.

It was with real regret that the visitors and Madisonites watched the Queen and her court walk away. Most of us were comforted by the thought of the dance that night, though, at which the V. M. I. Commanders and the Luray Ambassadors really played some grand music.

So, with one last sigh for all the fun it had been, we hung up our evening gowns, put our corsages in the window, and set the alarm for Church. May Day was over.

GRADUATION

There are some things whose value we seldom recognize until they are gone, or nearly gone, from us. So it is with college days. Those last days—those days of "finishing up" or, if you prefer, of "commencement"—became doubly precious to us because they were our last hours as students at Madison. And we would have slowed their rate of passing if we could have done it.

In all the rush and hurry of graduation we took time out for a lot of remembering. We did a lot of long, hard looking at people and things that we wanted to remember always. We did a lot of thinking and wondering and planning for the future—always in terms of the past.

At the faculty reception at Hillcrest we couldn't help thinking of our quaking, freshman selves who had attended the faculty reception there four years ago.

Class day, with its prophecy and history and jokes that only members of the group could fully appreciate, was the last informal get-together for the Class of 1942.

Sunday morning brought our beautiful baccalaureate service. On Sunday evening, in the seniority ceremonial, when we gowned the juniors and lighted their candles for them, we were writing another part of the final chapter in the book of our college life.

And, at last, the great day came. We entered Wilson Hall as students of Madison College. We left it as alumnae. Through the diploma that we received from Dr. Duke we had entered the school of the world. It was a strange, lost feeling we had.
